Earning an Associate degree in Liberal Arts at Manor College will help you develop the oral and written communication skills, interpersonal skills, problem-solving and critical thinking skills that are highly desirable in today's competitive world.

Why You Belong Here

Our student-centered approach addresses the needs of both traditional and non-traditional learners. Courses at Manor College build academic confidence through a small, personalized and nurturing setting. The curriculum is designed to develop your skills in key areas of reading, writing, communication, science, and math, while also laying a foundation of cultural literacy. A faculty advisor and counselor work closely to make sure your program of study is best suited to your future academic interests.

Other features:

- Flexible, individualized academic program
- Small classes and personalized advising
- Articulation agreements with area four-year colleges ensure easy transfer of credits

The Liberal Arts Program is ideal for students who are undecided about a major or unsure of a career path. Since the Liberal Arts are an essential part of any college degree, students with a Liberal Arts background can continue their education in one of Manor's Bachelor programs.
